Ripponden Parish Council Michaelmas Show 2016

The Environment Committee of Ripponden Parish Council at a recent meeting announced that the annual show of local vegetables, flowers, baking, photographic and craft produce will take place in the concert room of the Conservative Club on Saturday 24th September.

Entry forms, which detail the closing date for entries, are obtainable on the Ripponden Parish Council web site (www.rippondenparishcouncil.gov.uk) which also contains full information of entry categories, presentation rules and regulations.

Parish Council Chairman, Cllr Jayne Smith said, 'We were heartened last year by the increase in entries from our creative bakers which were of a very high standard. This year we are looking forward to more of our junior citizens joining our more experienced entrants to make this a year to remember.'

The picturesque villages of Barkisland, Ripponden, Rishworth and Soyland which make up this thriving West Yorkshire Parish contain many award winning gardens. The hedgerows and surrounding photogenic moorlands host many of the basic ingredients for home produced jams, chutneys and craft displays.

So come on you citizens of Ripponden get your spades working, hone your berry picking fingers, put your creative skills into gear and join in the fun on the 24th September.
